Former Wyoming Standout Signs with NY Jets

HELENA, MT- Former University of Wyoming football standout Brock Ralph has signed a contract with the New York Jets football team in the NFL. The contract, worked out by Ralph's agents at Hometown Sports Management of Helena, calls for a two-year commitment to the Jets. Ralph will report to the Jets off-season training program in March.

"We are really excited for Brock," said Agent Chris Gittings. "He is a great athlete and a quality individual. We've really enjoyed working with him. This is a good opportunity for him to make an NFL roster."

Ralph, originally from Raymond, Alberta, Canada, has played Wide Receiver for the Edmonton Eskimos for two years. Prior to that he played for the UW Cowboys from 1999-2002.

Hometown Sports Management is based in Helena, MT and represents clients such as former Wyoming Wide Receiver Malcom Floyd, now of the San Diego Chargers.
